

Repurchase agreements for 16 billion krónur

In accordance with its Rules on facilities for credit institutions, the Central Bank of Iceland held a weekly auction of repurchase agreements on November 11, 2003. The repo agreements have a maturity of 14 days.

The auction was in a fixed-rate format at a rate of 5.3 per cent p.a., with no restriction on the amount. Bids were made for a total of 16 billion krónur, resulting in repurchase contracts for that amount. Repos in the amount 17.5 billion krónur matured at the same time. The next auction is scheduled for November 18.

The graph shows the outstanding stock of Central Bank repos on the basis of regular auctions. Other Central Bank facilities for central government and credit institutions also affect financial market liquidity.
